STATE FIRE MARSHAL CALLED IN TO INVESTIGATE STORE FIRES

Simultaneous Fires in Centralville and Kearney Square Branches of Depot Cash Market Last Night Give Department Stubborn Battles and Create Loss of $25,000—Store Manager Welcomes Investigation and Suspects Incendiarism

Everett W. Shumway of the state fire marshal's office came to Lowell today at the request of Chief Edward P. Saunders to investigate two fires that burned simultaneously last night and resulted in approximately $25,000 loss to the Depot Cash Market stores in Kearney square and Centralville, and the buildings in which they are located.

While the Centralville fire was put under control in short order and did not do $1000 worth of damage in the basement where it was confined, the Kearney square fire burned for more than three hours and gave the department one of the most stubborn fights it has staged up against for some time. The loss there to the store and other occupants of the Grosvenor block will approximate $25,000.

Inasmuch as the fires broke out practically at the same moment and because each seemed to have its origin below the ground floor and because the stores are two of a chain of four now

PLANS PROPOSED FOR ERECTION OF $800,000 HOTEL HERE

Boston Men Present Proposition to Chamber of Commerce Committee—Hotel Would Have 300 to 350 Rooms—Portion of Building Might be Used for Apartments

Forward steps in the campaign for the erection of a new hotel in Lowell were taken yesterday when seven members of the chamber of commerce hotel committee held their first business meeting in the chamber headquarters to hear a brand new proposition covering revised plans for the building of the desired modern hostelry of 300 to 350 rooms to better accommodate the needs of a growing city.

The proposition was presented by John F. McKay, a Boston attorney, and William J. Snow, also of Boston.

MAYORALTY CANDIDATES

No New Entries Listed Today—Rumored That Dr. Bagley May Enter

No new faces showed in the mayoralty race today, although rumors persisted to circulate relative to the entrance of Dr. Patrick J. Bagley, at present president of the city council. It is understood he will make a definite announcement tomorrow.

While it is hardly believed there will be a candidate representing French citizens, it is possible that Albert Bergeron, budget and audit commission member and former school committee man, may seek some office under Plan K. When seen today he admitted his mind was not made up, but probably would be within 24 hours.

The field for councilors-at-large was still further augmented today when papers were taken out by Alexander E. Rountree, member of the park commission; George S. Gilman, 72 Burt street, a candidate last year; Henry J. Draper, former state senator, and John K. Hogan, 26 Oliver street.

George H. Walker of 153 Winthrop ave. has appeared as an opponent of Arthur H. Chadwick in ward 5 and Edward J. Kenney, 15 Lamoix street, today became a candidate for councilor from ward 9.

It is definitely stated that Hon. John P. Meahan will not enter the mayoralty fight, neither will John J. Gilbride.

FULLER MAKES AN INSPECTION

Acting Governor Visits McLean Hospital for Insane at Waverly

Convinced Commitment of Dorothy Gordon, Heiress to $400,000, Proper

BOSTON, Nov. 15.—After a forenoon of inspection at the McLean hospital for the insane at Waverly, Acting Governor Fuller today declared he was convinced that the commitment to the institution of Dorothy Gordon, heiress to a $400,000 estate, and her treatment there, were proper in every way. The acting governor had gone to the asylum to investigate reports of irregularities concerning her commitment and treatment, that have grown out of the hearing before a master of a controversy over her guardianship.

Beyond satisfying himself that everything was regular, Mr. Fuller said he would make no comment on the case. He referred inquiries to Dr. George M. Kline, commissioner of mental diseases, whose department has charge of institutions for the insane. At the latter's office it was said Dr. Kline was absent from the city, and that until he returned, no action would be taken on the petition of Rev. Roland D. Sawyer of Ware, a member of the legislature for an investigation. Hearing of the petition of Miss Gordon's uncle, John Gardiner of Baldwin, L. I., for the removal of William F. Jardine of Winchester, as guardian of the girl has been suspended for ten days.

NO DISCRIMINATION AT THE HAMILTON MILLS

Robert McWade, United States conciliation commissioner, department of labor, Washington, D. C., who conferred with Agent Mitchell of the Massachusetts mills yesterday forenoon in the interest of the strikers of that mill, paid a visit to the Hamilton Mfg. Co. office yesterday afternoon and was greeted by Supt. Laime. In the absence of Agent Mitchell, who was in Boston.

It was learned today that the commissioner was informed that there was no discrimination whatever at the mill and that as fast as help was needed, former employees of the plant were being given the preference. The commissioner was also told that the mill is now running 100 per cent and that orders are coming in quite freely. Inasmuch as there are no other mills in Lowell which were affected by the strike and which had not given employment to former employees, the commissioner's mission ended at the Hamilton, and in the evening he returned to Boston to await orders from Washington.

ELECTION DAY IN GREAT BRITAIN

Millions Swarm to Polls in England, Scotland, Wales and Ulster

Electorate to Choose Fourth Parliament of Reign of King George V

LONDON, Nov. 15.—(By the Associated Press.)—The electorate of Great Britain swarmed to the polls by the millions today in England, Scotland, Wales and Ulster to elect the fourth parliament of the reign of King George V. The polls opened at 8 o'clock—an hour earlier than that in some big industrial centers—and by 9 o'clock tonight the new house of commons will have been selected.

No eleventh hour development has lessened the uncertainty of the result. The few prophets who venture forecasts the strings to their predictions. Gamblers betting on the election results in the London insurance market yesterday had to pay a rate which indicated that a majority of conservatives and independent Unionists over all other parties was regarded as almost certain, but the odds were 7 to 4 against the expectation that conservatives would get majority of 50 or more.

The morning papers today earnestly appeal to the electors to exercise their franchise, and to take nothing for granted. The anti-labor papers expressed considerable fear of a victory among the electorate. They are particularly concerned lest the middle class of home-keeping women whose first interests are their families, neglect the opportunity to cast votes against labor.

HALL-MILLS MURDER CASE

Officials Continue Preparations to Present Case to Grand Jury Monday

Investigators Confident That Chain of Evidence is Complete

NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J., Nov. 15.—Apparently confident that the chain of evidence is complete, officials continued today preparations to present the Hall-Mills murder case to the grand jury Monday. Witnesses for the first day will include Pearl Bahner and Raymond Schneider, who found the bodies of the Rev. Edward Wheeler Hall and Mrs. Elsie Hildred Mills, and County Detective George Totten who had charge of the preliminary investigation.

Tuesday Deputy Attorney General Mott said he would present witnesses to show that Mrs. Frances Stevens Hall had knowledge of the relations between Dr. Hall and Mrs. Mills. The grand jury will be in session from 10 a. m. until 4 p. m. daily until the case is completed.

"CHAPTER DAY" AT SPALDING HOUSE

It was "Chapter day" at Spalding house yesterday with a pleasing entertainment provided by Mrs. Marion McKnight Stevenson, Miss Mary E. Kelly and Miss Helena Fish. Mrs. Stevenson sang two groups of songs. The readings by Miss Fish were exceptionally well done for one of her tender years. The meeting was presided over by Mrs. Nathan Pulifer, chapter regent, and the hostess was Mrs. Walter Parker. A social hour with light refreshments rounded out the afternoon.

Before the entertainment the regent made a touching reference to the loss the chapter has sustained in the death of Mrs. Morrison. A suitable resolution will be presented as a memorial at the next business meeting.

BRITAIN STANDS TO AGREEMENTS

Will Not Oppose Main Turkish Demands to Come Before Peace Conference

Turks Assure Allies That Stipulations in Armistice Will Be Respected

LONDON, Nov. 15.—(By the Associated Press.)—The British foreign office, it was stated in authoritative quarters today, has telegraphed to the French and Italian governments a memorandum in which Great Britain declares that the main Turkish demands which are to come before the Near East peace conference at Lausanne, are not regarded favorably by the British government.

Great Britain stands by the agreements previously made with her allies, according to the memorandum. She regards unfavorably the three main Turkish demands, namely, a plebiscite in western Thrace, rectification of the Syrian frontier in favor of Turkey, and abolition of the capitulations.

Paris Receives British Note

PARIS, Nov. 15.—(By the Associated Press.)—The British memorandum outlining several points upon which Great Britain desires an agreement with France in advance of the Lausanne conference was handed to Premier Poincaré this morning at the foreign office by Lord Hardinge, the British ambassador. No indication of its contents was available from the Quai d'Orsay, but Great Britain is believed to have raised certain new questions as a result of the attitude the Turks have taken since the Mudania armistice conference.

BEDROSIAN FACES TRIAL ON MURDER CHARGE

John Bedrosian, of Lawrence today began a fight for his life before a superior court jury in Cambridge when he was placed on trial charged with the murder of Hagop Sarkisian, also of Lawrence, in a woods near the Drury-Stephen line last August.

Monday the jury was drawn and impanelled. Yesterday it was brought to the scene of the alleged murder for a view. The actual trial started today and much headway was made at this morning's session. It is expected the case will take up several days in the trial.

"I SHOULD WORRY" SAYS MR. HOWARD

Asked today what he would say in event Mayor Brown continued to refuse to approve his bill for 1924, submitted to the election commission for services rendered in connection with the Plan K manumission actions, Albert S. Howard of the firm of Howard & Rogers, said "I should worry."

The attorney explained this by adding he has not submitted a bill to the city, but to the election commission. "What the commission did with the bill after I presented it to them, I do not know, nor is it any concern of mine," he added.

"Also what I may believe regarding whether the election commission legally is entitled to complete reimbursement by the city," said Mr. Howard, "does not make any difference, but I am not worrying about the bill, that is sure."

MARTIAL LAW PROCLAIMED IN DEVASTATED REGIONS

Scarcely a House Remains Standing in Vallenar Valley in Northern Chile—Disaster Grows as New Details Come In—1500 Victims in Two Provinces—Troops Called to Halt Looting by Bandits—Sky Illuminated by Intense Red Light When Shocks Were Felt

SANTIAGO, Chile, Nov. 15. (By the Associated Press.)—Scarcely a house remains standing in the Vallenar valley in northern Chile as the result of the earthquake and marine disturbances of last week. The full extent of the disaster which centered upon the provinces of Atacama and Coquimbo became more fully known today with the reopening of telegraphic communications with North Chile. In these two provinces the victims number 1500 so far as is now known, but it is expected the number of dead will be substantially increased when communications are resumed with many small villages in the interior whose fate remains unknown.

Martial law has been declared at Val-lenar and to Copiapo owing to the looting which bandits have been perpetrating upon the distressed population. The bandits are believed for the most part to be prisoners who escaped from the jails.

The correspondent of the newspaper Mercurio, who has arrived at Copiapo, says that when the earthquake was first felt there Friday night, the eastern sky was illuminated by an intense red light in the shape of great flames. This phenomena could be seen for a great distance. The tremors continued all night and Saturday morning with such frequency that at times it all seemed to be one long drawn out quake. Just before midnight Sunday another

NO TRACE OF MISSING BOY

Mother of James Abraham Says Cards Tell Her That Boy is Alive

Another Boy Tells Police He Saw Missing Lad Fall Into Canal

The cards have told the mother of 4-year-old James Abraham, Suffolk street boy, who has been missing from home since Monday noon, that he is alive. At least this is what she told the police today when she called at the station to inquire if any new developments had been uncovered in the search for her son. Mrs. Abraham told police officers that she had consulted a fortune teller relative to her boy's disappearance and that she had received the answer that he was alive and well.

The woman firmly believes this even in the face of a discouraging report from the officers who said that a 6-year-old boy told him that he had seen the Abraham boy plunge into the canal. Another story that the mother told was that two small children have told her that they had seen her son going into a house with two other small children, having been met at the door by a woman. The mother believes that the woman is taking care of her boy and as soon as she sees the account of his disappearance will return the lost child.

This story cannot be given a great deal of weight as it is now 24 hours since the boy was reported missing. The little boy told him that he was playing with the Abraham boy near the canal. He said that the two were throwing sticks into the water and were reaching for them. He told of seeing the Abraham boy fall into the water, of his throwing up his hands and crying and his subsequent sinking from view.

Mrs. Abraham appeared very anxious when she came to the police station this morning and seemed to place great faith in what the cards told her. While everyone would like to believe that the cards are telling the truth, the weight of the evidence seems to point to the fact that the youngster was drowned.

The parents of the lad are pretty well convinced that he is not in the neighborhood for all sections of Suffolk street and neighboring streets have been thoroughly searched. Mrs. Abraham was up all night looking for her son and her relatives are afraid that her will collapse from the severe strain she made the rounds of the neighborhood again early this morning and stopped every police officer she met in hope

MARY MacSWINEY GROWS WEAKER

Woman on Hunger Strike in Mountjoy Prison Has Change for the Worse

Other Women Political Prisoners, Fearing Leader Will Die, Appeal to Irish People

DUBLIN, Nov. 15. (By the Associated Press.)—In an appeal to the Irish people on behalf of Miss Mary MacSwiney, who has been on a hunger strike for 11 days in Mountjoy prison, the other women political prisoners in that institution declared today that Miss MacSwiney, who has been getting weaker each day, had undergone a great change for the worse since this morning and that it was feared she would die.

"We are heartbroken at her condition," said the prisoners. All the women prisoners signed the appeal. Rumors current in Dublin this forenoon that Miss MacSwiney had died were not confirmed by the prison authorities. The rumors were thought to have arisen from the previous reports of her weak condition.

Muriel MacSwiney Arraigned

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15.—After a night spent in the house of detention, Mrs. Muriel MacSwiney, widow of Terence MacSwiney, former lord mayor of Cork, who died in prison on a hunger strike, and eight other women, two of whom elected to refuse food and remained in confinement with her, were prepared to appear before a United States commissioner today to answer charges lodged against them for picketing the British embassy here. The women were arraigned yesterday during a demonstration before the embassy in protest of the detention of Miss Mary MacSwiney, sister of Terence, who is a prisoner of the Irish Free State.

ELECTION BOARD WILL MEET TONIGHT

The board of election commissioners will meet tonight to take some action on the request of the Trades & Labor council to keep the polling places open until 9 p. m. on election primary day. The closing hour has been announced by the commission as 7 o'clock, but the council feels a great many industrial workers would not have the opportunity to vote if the polls closed at that hour.

that they might have a ray of encouragement to offer her.

For a time last night the police believed they had cleared up the mystery when a man named Bruce came into the station and reported that he had picked up a little boy in the neighborhood of the country club and had brought him down town. When the auto neared the O'Connell parkway the little fellow insisted that he was home and that he wanted to get out. He was so insistent that the driver stopped and let him out of the car. The boy ran off across the parkway without hesitating and seemed to know just where he was going.

When the description given of the boy by Mr. Bruce was checked up with that of the lost boy, it did not respond in any way with the possible exception of age and size. The police will continue to work on the case and if the canal does not give up the body when it is searched out Saturday, as is now planned, it will be attacked from a different angle.

Associate hall, Minor-Doyle's, tonight.

RADIO FOR NIGHT AIR MAIL SERVICE

Night flying for the air mail service will be made safe through radio. A report says the postoffice department at Washington contemplates the introduction of the best wireless equipment possible in each airplane that will be employed when night flying is begun. It is expected, will not be before the spring of next year, but experiments are going on in the meantime.

To be sure of the safety of each airplane pilot at night, the officials are contemplating the use of a duplex communication system. Thus, both the transmission and reception of wireless messages will be possible from the airplane over a radius of at least 100 miles.

There are 15 radio-telegraph stations maintained by the postoffice department between New York and San Francisco. These will have to be provided with radio telephone sets of the highest type for communication with the flying planes. The station at Washington already has one of these sets.

Plan Compact Set

Government wireless experts are centering their energies on the design of a compact and light wireless instrument which would be carried easily in the airplanes in use today and at the same time afford the highest proficiency in transmission and reception.

The aerial will consist of the regular type of trailing antenna with a fish-like lead weight at the end. The antenna is held on a reel in the plane when not in use, and is let out to a length of 300 feet for the reception or transmission of messages.

According to the press report from the government bureau:

Radio Fishing

"If the postoffice department adopts night flying, its air mail planes will go trolling very often with a bait in the shape of a little lead fish on the end of a 300-foot copper line. The air mail planes will not catch fish, but they do expect to fish other waves from the air which will tell them where they are or whether there is a storm raging over the field on which they are due to land."

With radio in each plane, the airships will be given their position while flying, just as ships at sea find their bearings between two transmitting stations. This system will keep the night flyers on their right roads at all times, whether there be storm or fog, and is expected to insure the lives and property on the planes.

RADIO FANS WELCOME COMING OF WINTER

Contrary to general opinion, the local radio world enthusiastically anticipates the coming of winter. The cool, crisp air of autumn and the chilly atmosphere of a December day tends to make radio play. All the more interesting and fascinating, according to Francis L. Shea, a Lowell expert, of 317 Beacon street. Mr. Shea has been associated with the radio for almost a year, and in that time he has acquired considerable knowledge of the "game" of the radio. He predicts a good winter for the sport. To the uninitiated it would seem that the inclemency of the weather in the coldest season of the year would prove detrimental to the reception of messages, but Mr. Shea contradicts this opinion and states that messages can be received or sent much better in

A Talk To Mothers-- Not Frivolous, But Thoughtful Mothers.

Each winter season brings coughs, colds, catarrh, pneumonia, "flu," and tuberculosis. Loving mothers dread the onslaught of these diseases.

Thoughtful mothers often wonder about the danger of colds and coughs. Such mothers know that a cold or cough, if not treated promptly, may lead to more serious complications. They know that a cold or cough, if not treated promptly, may lead to more serious complications. They know that a cold or cough, if not treated promptly, may lead to more serious complications.

Here is a simple, inexpensive way, practiced by over 300,000 mothers during the past twelve years, as a great volume of testimony proves. Not later than the first cold or rainy spell, they make up a roll of Mento-Laxine, made of cold medicine, and give it to their children.

Mento-Laxine is a pure, natural, and safe remedy for colds, coughs, and croup. It is made of cold medicine, and gives relief without harm. Children and adults like its delicious flavor, and its remarkably quick action in stopping colds and coughs before the dangerous complications set in.

There is nothing so pure and so prompt, so inexpensive.

Resolve to be a Thoughtful Mother. Get Mento-Laxine today and drive the cold and cough away. Breathe easy and colds and coughs will be gone for good. Send for sample.

ONE AERIAL FOR MANY CONCERTS

Two or more concerts from one broadcasting station at the same time! That is the possibility opened up for the future through the transmission on several wave lengths from one aerial. It is at present an object of study by wireless engineers.

The system suggested for the attainment of this multiple form of radio transmission is one in which a wave length of a filter at the transmitting end and another at the receiving end. A filter is a combination of wireless devices which allows only waves of a certain length to go through it.

By this method, it is explained, a concert can be arranged to go out on a definite wave length for reception through a similar filter. At the same time, other filters could be fitted to transmit varying programs on different wave lengths, while through the corresponding filters at the receiving end only one concert would be heard.

In this way, also, it is believed, programs would be secret to those who have not the proper filter or the right combination to tune in.

BELGIANS LIMITED

Time signals and meteorological reports are all that amateurs in Belgium are permitted to receive. In fact, besides being licensed, the receiving stations are forbidden to use vacuum tubes unless specially authorized and are under other strict limitations.

SAFER IN NEXT WAR

Burying telephone wires behind the firing lines was an extremely dangerous occupation in the last war, and casualties among the signal men assigned for such work were high. In the next war there will be no telephone wires between division headquarters and the front line, say army officials.

RADIO IN AFRICA

Great Britain plans a comprehensive radio system throughout its African possessions. South Africa will be connected with England by way of Cairo and Nairobi, where efficient stations are being planned. Each station will have a range of from 2000 to 2500 miles.

POLICE HEAR FROM DEAD MAN'S WIFE

After working on the case for three weeks, local police yesterday got in touch with relatives of Charles C. Stoddard, who died suddenly in a local tenement here. His wife and sister were communicated with in Providence. Yesterday Chief Atkinson received a letter from the wife, who said she had been unable to locate her husband for several weeks. She asked the police chief's aid in the matter.

MEN'S CLUB HEARS COL. P. A. GUTHRIE

A most interesting talk on "The Psychology of the War" was given last night before the Men's club in Grace church by Lieut. Col. P. A. Guthrie, a veteran of both the Boer and World wars. The talk was very much different from the usual line of war talk.

"The speaker traced the history of other wars back as far as 6000 years, and told of the causes that had started each. He told of the manner in which the soldiers regarded fighting during the World war and of their attitude before an attack. He said in this regard: 'The men who fought side by side and who lived almost daily in fear of their lives didn't care so much whether they were Roman Catholics or Protestants; all they knew was that they were comrades in arms and fighting for the same big cause.'"

The big thing in life today was human relationship and in bringing the principles of the law of equity into everyday life.

A supper was served, which was in charge of George Randall. A business meeting preceded the supper.

GOV-ELECT BROWN OF NEW HAMPSHIRE FETED

SOMERSWORTH, N. H., Nov. 15.—Approximately 7000 people turned out last night to help celebrate the election of Mayor Fred H. Brown last Tuesday as governor of the state. Partisan considerations were cast aside by the citizens in a spontaneous effort to give recognition to the honor that has come to the city and its chief executive.

ment guests and speakers rode in automobiles and were trailed by several hundred cars. The route, covering every part of the city, was ablaze with fireworks.

After the parade there was speaking in the Somersworth theatre. Henry C. Harden, chairman of the celebration committee, presided. Gov-elect Brown spoke very briefly, thanking his friends for so loyally supporting him. Attorney Joseph D. Sullivan of Portsmouth, Judge Christopher H. Wells and Congressman-elect William S. Rogers were the other speakers. Following the meeting Mayor Brown gave an informal reception at K. of C. hall, where a "Governor's Rally" was held.

Jack Daw at Sea! Chapter 10

Then the trip to the Pearl house was continued. "That's where I live," said the fat man, suddenly, pointing just ahead. And Jack saw a bright little cave-like place. A small bear was sitting out in front, and in the yard were many other animals, all very much at home.

Jack was a bit afraid of them, but they didn't bother him at all as he followed the fat man into the home. "My, but you have a fine place," said Jack as he eyed the odd furniture in the home. Everything was very odd, especially a table which you could turn any way at all.

After Jack had rested a bit, the fat man suggested that he ride the zebra to Mixup Cove to see all the funny sights there. "You'll find the jumping Jimnies guarding the cave," said the fat man, "and you'll have to get by them." Jack was glad to make the trip. (Continued.)

The answer to above question will appear in this space tomorrow.

Yesterday's Question: Why the Bonded wrapper?

The Answer: Bond Bread gets its name from the Bond which guarantees that this bread shall contain only the purest ingredients and no substitutes. So that this guarantee may reach the purchaser of each and every loaf, the Bond itself is actually printed on each wrapper. ### Plans Proposed for Erection of $800,000 Hotel Here

Mr. Snow has already had an experienced hotel man visit Lowell and make a survey as to the need for a hotel in this city.

Mr. McKay, speaking for himself and Mr. Snow, proposed that a modern, up-to-date hotel be erected in Lowell, with from 300 to 350 rooms, with possibly a portion of the building used for apartments.

The building, it was suggested, should be from five to six stories in height, and the location left to the judgment of the chamber of commerce hotel committee. It was estimated by Mr. McKay that such a building would cost, with the land needed, approximately $800,000.

Mr. McKay proposes to finance the hotel by issuing $800,000 first mortgage bonds, which he agrees to sell through a bonding house, and to issue $200,000 second mortgage bonds represented by trust certificates. He asks the people of Lowell to raise a sufficient amount to pay for the proposed site, which he estimated should cost approximately $100,000; for this amount the subscribers would receive second mortgage trust certificates bearing six per cent interest; the balance of the issue of $200,000 would be sold by Mr. McKay.

The speaker and Mr. Snow say they will agree to secure a manager for the hotel, who will lease it for a term of years on a ten per cent basis and who will also furnish and equip the building and will give a bond for the faithful performance of his lease.

No action was taken by the hotel committee further than to discuss the matter at length and the Boston speaker closely on numerous minor details in connection with the proposition advanced, and then to appoint a sub-committee to make a further investigation of the plan and report within two weeks.

Two Women Fill New York's Lunch Baskets With 35,000 Sandwiches

MAYONNAISE HAM BEEF TONGUE SWISS CHEESE EGGS CHICKENS CREAM SANDWICHES

MRS. HANNAH SMITH AND

BY JOSEPHINE VAN DE GRIFT
(N.E.A. Service Staff Writer)

NEW YORK, Nov. 13.—Two women fill New York's daily lunch baskets. Each night they turn out 35,000 sandwiches which are kipped up by the rushing thousands who grab a snack to eat at the soda fountain or drug store—just to save time. And then spend the rest of their lunch hour window shopping or killing time. All because Mrs. Nettie Schwarzwald went into the sandwich business four years ago. As she saw the noon-hour horde gulp down their coffee in a hurry to finish their lunches in the restaurants, she began figuring how large a piece of ham she could insert between two slices of bread and still make a margin of profit. She went to several corner druggists with her idea. They liked it. So she started taking orders and her husband, Julius Schwarzwald, a restaurant-keeper, started filling them. Business boomed and now Mrs. Schwarzwald's sister, Mrs. Hannah Smith, helps her. "To make our 35,000 sandwiches," say the women, "we use, among other things, 400 pounds of bread, 600 pounds of ham, 150 pounds of beef tongue, 400 pounds of Swiss cheese, 300 dozen eggs, 135 chickens, 100 pounds of cream cheese, and 25 gallons of mayonnaise. "Four years ago our weekly pay roll totaled $65. Now it amounts to $1900. We have seven auto trucks and 75 persons working for us." It is the boast of the two women, that their kitchen is as "clean as a new bride." But there are no women in it making sandwiches. That part is left entirely to men. "Women's place," says Mrs. Schwarzwald, "is going after business. "And getting it."

New Tariff Brings Eve of Prosperity

BOSTON, Nov. 15.—If the first month of the new tariff is any criterion for the year the Federal treasury will derive more than half a billion dollars from this source, instead of the three to four hundred millions estimated by government officials. Secretary William H. Clegg of the Home Market club said in his address at the annual meeting today. "The enactment of the Fordney-McCumber tariff establishes the starting point of another era of prosperity for the United States of America," he declared.

OUT-OF-TOWN VISITORS AT HIGH SCHOOL

Principal Henry H. Harris of the Lowell high school today occupied the temporary role of tourist manager and dinner host for two out-of-town school supervisory guests anxious to inspect the new school building and departmental equipments and discuss a number of local institutional arrangements in the way of advanced school program activities and control of pupils during both study and recreation periods. The guests were Superintendent Atwell and Principal Charles J. Peterson of Wakefield high school, who came to Lowell in good season this morning so as to witness the prompt gathering of hundreds of boy and girl pupils and watch them move in orderly fashion but quickly to their rooms for the opening of the school exercises. Just before the dining hour at noon, the visitors were given seats of vantage in one corner of the basement quarters, where daily meals are served at small expense to faculty and pupils. Mr. Harris' guests expressed delight at the promptness with which foods were made ready and the short time it took to serve them in order to allow pupils to return to classes in ample season or have a little recreation before "bells."

After inspecting the kitchen service arrangements and other portions of that section, the guests sat down with

Mr. Harris and other instructors in a private nook, where all partook of a luncheon similar in variety to those eaten by the pupils. It was an excellent repast, the visitors agreed. This afternoon the school instructors spent some time studying the various room arrangements, the auditorium and new accessories in the shape of storage quarters for school equipments, and other material things that comprise Lowell's offerings for young America's mental as well as physical training. The Wakefield officials' visit was for the purpose of obtaining accurate information regarding new building and schoolroom arrangements that may aid in developing the new Wakefield high school plans.

matches at given intervals throughout the winter months. Last year, exactly a crowd attended the shows and all went away satisfied that they had received their money's worth. Thus far this present season, the meetings have been very successful and while amateurs appear in most of the bouts, they have created sufficient enthusiasm among the fans to warrant a continuance of the shows. It is probable that Promoter Cheswick will have his list of top-notchers ready for publication tomorrow.

JAPAN INTERESTED IN TURK CAPITULATIONS

LAUSANNE, Nov. 15. (By the Associated Press)—Japan like the United States has a vital interest in the question of Turkish capitulations, sure to be considered at the Near Eastern peace conference here next week. Sweeping denunciation of the capitulations which are extra territorial rights granted to foreigners in Turkey, and which the new nationalist government in that country want abolished, would affect Japanese plans for the extension of economic relations with Turkey. Recent installations of a Japanese legation at Athens and the launching in the Greek capital of bilingual magazine, "The Near East," devoted to fostering commercial relations, indicate the aspirations of the Japanese to expand their trade in Near Eastern zones. "The Japanese have no treaty with Turkey. Therefore they benefit from the capitulations only as one of the signatories to the Treaty of Sevres. They would like a commercial treaty according to their most favored nation treatment."

PLANTATION MELODIES PLEASE AUDIENCE

An appreciative audience at All Souls' church last evening listened to plantation melodies of familiar variety when the Hampton quartet gave a "song-fest" in aid of the Hampton school of Virginia. The quartet comprised F. W. Crawley, tenor; J. H. Quickmore, second tenor; W. C. Ward, baritone; and John H. Wainwright, bass—all graduates of the school.

"The singers were melodious and harmonious. Among the popular numbers were "Couldn't Hear Nobody Pray," "Hard Trials" and "Freedom." A pleasing number was that made notable years ago by "The Jubilee Singers," their best offering being "Swing Low, Sweet Chariot."

Mr. Ketchell, a white teacher in the Hampton school, explained the needs of the institution in a financial way and declared that it had thus far made wonderful progress in the education of negroes.

Rev. Arthur C. McGiffert, Jr., introduced the quartet.

SEEN AND HEARD

You can't keep a good man down or a good for nothing man up.

A man is often misjudged by the company he keeps.

May make light work and many make light of work.

Increasing Value

"Yes," explained the old man, "my son went over several years ago to make his fortune." "And what is his worth now?" asked the friend. "I don't rightly know at present. But six months ago the authorities were offering $5000 for him."—Boy's Magazine.

A Thought

We want straight men in this age of light. We want their counsel and sense of right. Their valor and virtue and loyal sense of duty. Of seeing a duty that's done, well done. We want straight men in the race to run! —FOLGER MCKENZIE.

Wanted: Teen Chicken

The provision dealer was astonished. He gazed at the newly married young woman as if he thought she were a victim of temporary insanity. "Did you say you wanted a teen chicken, ma'am?" "Certainly I did," and the young woman's expression took on an added dignity. "Neither Mr. Torner nor I ever ate chicken fat. It is extremely distasteful to both of us and we see no occasion for paying for what we do not like."

He Found a Model

Two men chanced to be sitting opposite each other in a subway train. Presently one of them produced a sketch of the other. After he had completed the drawing he shut up the book and returned it to his pocket. The man opposite was both interested and gratified by this attention, and, turning around, said: "You are an artist, I perceive, sir." "No," replied the other. "I'm not exactly an artist, I'm a designer of door knockers."—Kansas City Star.

Round About Compliment

James was considered quite a Don Juan, and was quite accustomed to being questioned about affairs of the heart. John was in trouble. He had fallen in love, but with his clumsy tongue he feared to risk a compliment to the lady of his choice. "Ah," said James, "you want to be subtle. It won't be any good to say, 'what pretty legs you have.' She'll only be offended." "O, I couldn't think of saying that," said John. "No," replied the same, "but I might say, 'your feet are simply lovely, but no one will ever notice it until you lengthen your skirts.'"

We Believe This

Stern was the glance which the corner east at the young doctor who had just appeared in the witness box. "And when you were called in," he asked, "what did you give the deceased?" "Give him? Well, I gave him ipsecauanha." "Indeed!" sneered the corner. "And I suppose you know, sir, that in the man's condition you might as well have given him the aura borealis." "Quite so, sir," said the witness, blantly. "It is a pleasure to meet a man of medical education. This is exactly what I should have given him if he had not died."

Peaceful Arbitration

He was a man of peace and when he came upon two youths fighting in a back street he pushed through the crowd to persuade them to desist. "Let me beg you, my good friends," he said, "to settle your dispute by arbitration. Each of you choose a half dozen friends to arbitrate." "Thank," yelled the crowd, "as the gentleman says, boys." Having seen the 12 arbitrators selected to the satisfaction of both sides, the man of peace went his way rejoicing that brute force was again to yield to reason. Half an hour later he was horrified to find the white street fighting going on as before. He spotted, and when he inquired what had happened the reply was: "Sure, sber, the arbitrators are at work."

Courage

It doesn't pay to murmur, and it doesn't pay to fret. If you're like a white, and if never does a bit of good to whine. The more you wall and worry, the less you get. It's unprofitable business to repine. The bright and cheerful worker is the one who wins success. The man who takes an optimistic view. Who works, instead of walling, and always does his best. Thus pointing out a rule of life for you.

It doesn't help a bit to get the many To sit you down with folded hands and wish. It may be pleasant leaning on the bank beside a stream, but the water never catches any fish. You must work to be successful, with a good aim to get it. Never stopping your ambition to bewail. The man who wins is cheerful, always hoping for the best. And the doleful chap is pretty sure to fail.

SOUTHERN COTTON MILLS

The south now has $500,000,000 invested in cotton mills, which consumed last year 3,721,000 bales of cotton. Compared with 2,175,000 bales for the first of the century. The development of this industry from 150 mills in 1885 with $21,000,000 capital, to 570 mills with $550,000,000 capital at present, is one of the triumphs of American industry.

The southern cotton mill has been a great missionary to the operatives, who before the coming of the mill were without employment. The mills have created profitable employment; they have inspired with new life not only their operatives but millions of others. In proportion to the wealth and the newness of this industry, they have done more for the educational, religious and moral advancement of their operatives than any other great industry in this or any other country. They have built splendid schools, often operated wholly at the expense of the mills, and great Y.M.C.A. and Y.W.C.A. buildings. They have built out attractive towns and built dwellings equipped with all modern improvements and rented them at a nominal cost.

The operatives in these mills are almost all native Americans of the purest Anglo-Saxon stock in the world. They have developed initiative and self-reliance and ability to do expert work which makes them pre-eminent today the greatest potential power for cotton mill advancement to be found in this or any other country.—The Manufacturers' Record.

THE MAN ABOUT TOWN

Older residents of Lowell and vicinity are forcibly reminded of former days of lively activities in local street railroading and the many difficulties and trials that executives and employees had to tackle and surmount year after year before the coming of the electric motor lines and the trolleys, by the death in this city on Nov. 12, at 70 Congress street, of Frank Roark, retired and pensioned street railway employee. The history of Frank Roark, a very popular and well liked employee, with its many interesting details, often told before, but always with new sidelights and notes, was recently the history of local street railroading with many ramifications from the old horse car line period to the present day of the quick-moving passenger carriers operated by electricity.

Mr. Roark was more than 70 years of age when he passed out, but he was yesterday. He was employed continuously for a period of 35 years on local railway lines, and was retired on Dec. 21, 1921, being the first local street railwayman to benefit under the new employees' pension system, as well as being the oldest man in the service when he retired. His pension was $50.55 a month. Mr. Roark was first employed on the old time horse car lines, and could tell many good stories of railroading in those earlier days. As a conductor he began on the trolley lines in 1888. He first ran on the horse cars on the Gorham street line as far as Edison cemetery, later on the Lawrence street line, then to Chelmsford and later was transferred back to the Gorham street line again. In 1889 he was employed as "extra" man when the electric line was opened, running from Merrimack square to Lawrence street. Deceased railwayman had a host of warm friends in and about Lowell and all the way out on the important divisions where he was long well known. He knew everybody worth knowing, and everybody knew Roark. Few railroaders were more faithful in service, more observant of the rules of working, more devoted and loyal to employers, and more deserving of encomiums at the close of a useful and dignified career, followed with fidelity, wisdom and faithfulness.

other and more direct outlet and the fire spread into the Palace street end of the building and broke out fiercely in the Imperial luncheon room on that side.

Other Concerns Suffer Heavily

Firemen were sent into the upper floors for smoke was pouring out from beneath the eaves and the heat was so intense as to create a grave danger of a serious conflagration. To afford another smoke outlet, it was necessary to cut a hole in the roof.

The Hannis fruit store next door suffered severely and much of the stock early today and fire was discovered still burning in the mass of debris in the basement. Engine 3 was called and it was necessary to lay a hydrant line to draw it out. Because of the condition of the store in the square, a thorough investigation will be difficult until much of the debris is cleared away.

NOTES ON THE FIRE

Of the tenants on the second floor, Miss Florence M. Whelan, manufacturer, was most severely hit by the fire. Her shop faces Blake street and when fire broke out in the Imperial lunch room below it was necessary to cut a hole through the flooring of her room. Many valuable instruments were destroyed by water and today her office was in the utmost confusion.

"Big Jack" Mahan, policeman, was one of the first at the blaze in the square. He was in plain clothes but assisted the officers on duty in keeping back the crowd before the apparatus arrived. His first act was to kick in one of the big windows that open from the basement.

The first piece of apparatus to arrive was the Babcock truck, from the Central station. Without hose the firemen could do little until other pieces of apparatus came up.

Shortly after 10 o'clock Chief Saunders telephoned to outlying stations for additional help.

The city ambulance arrived shortly after 10 o'clock and was kept in readiness. It was said that the black smoke was extremely dangerous. Several of the first-aiders were slightly overcome but fresh air revived them.

It was impossible for anyone to go into the offices on the second and third floors, so thick was the smoke.

One ambitious newspaperman rushed up to the chief and asked if the fire had worked up through the first floor. Without a word, the chief took the man by the arm and said, "Come on in and I'll show you." The scribbler took a few steps into a dark hallway and slipped to the edge of a big hole. "I guess I've seen enough, chief, I'll take your word for the rest," he said, as he came shaking out of the building.

During the height of the fire one occupant stuck his head out of a front window and yelled for water. Up went a ladder against the building and several firemen climbed up with a hose. It is said they were unable to find the fire.

The fire worked through to the back part of the building rapidly. It was almost impossible to stand in huge street, so thick was the smoke.

Work was suspended for a time in the Corley-Citizen plant as the smoke came in so fast that it was almost impossible to see across the room.

The employees in Green's drug store stuck it out for two hours but the smoke finally drove them out.

There was scarcely any wind blowing.

Berton Braley's Daily Poem

INVITATION

Up in the forest now the leaves are falling,
Matting the earth with red and brown and gold,
The birds, ere long, will hear the southland calling;
The autumn days are bright, the nights are cold.
And as I struggle at my daily labor
Soft in my ears comes whispering a breeze
Which says, "Come out, the forest calls you, neighbor!
There are no lovelier days and nights than these.

"The brisk air sets your pulses leaping quicker,
Life is a tingle in these gorgeous days,
Each breath you take is like a draft of ichor;
The woods with many colors are ablaze:
Gone is the summer's languor, but the water,
Clear, cold and limpid, laps the pebbly shores,
Nature is fairer than you ever thought her,
Now is the time to seek the Out-of-Doors.

"Come, slip away. Put on your old attire,
Tempt some good pool to come along as well,
Think of the nights beside a crackling fire,
Think of the frosty mornings and the smell
Of bacon in the pan, the fragrant savor
Of boiling coffee in the morning glow.
These are the Days! You hesitate, you waver—
Back to the woods, old scout, come on—let's go!"

ing when the fire started but about 10.30 quite a breeze sprang up. It was fortunate that the fire was confined to the cellar and partitions.

Two men who conduct a shoe shine parlor and small lunch room were hopeful that the firemen would keep out of their places. Their hopes ran high until about 10 o'clock when the Smoke, poured from the building nearly all night. It is said that smoke came out of one chimney for the first time in many years.

Mrs. Talmadge Writes of Norma and Connie Abroad

CONSTANCE AND NORMA TALMADGE

By JAMES W. DEAN
NEW YORK, Nov. 13.—Norma and Constance Talmadge are seeing a lot of life on their foreign jaunt, according to a letter I have just received from Mrs. Margaret Talmadge. She wrote from Tunis where the girls stopped before going to Egypt. "People have recognized them in the most out-of-the-way places," their mother writes. "Their rooms are always filled with flowers and the Arabs from the quarters in the Kasba bring them strings of white jasmine every morning. We have been amazed to find faded photographs of both of them and old pictures cut out of newspapers tacked on walls or stuck in crevices of mirrors."

Constance has learned to eat the dishes, kush-kush, but Norma can't eat it.

In the old bazaars we have found a lot of oriental jewelry and beautiful embroidered fans and marvelous prayer-rugs. Don't be surprised if you should meet the two of them on Broadway wearing curious anklets and carrying eight inches long. "Our journey through Germany was interesting, although the poverty of the people is very depressing. One poor beggar crawled on his knees to kiss Norma's hand because she had dug into her little suitcase—purses and ordinary bags are of no use there; one has to carry a small trunk to hold the money—and threw him a handful of coins."

"When we got home and told Mr. Schenck of the poor man's gratitude, he asked how much Norma had given him. 'One thousand marks,' she replied proudly, expecting to be praised for her generosity."

"Mr. Schenck laughed us to shame and told us our small satisfaction had resulted from giving the man about a quarter in American money. It was our first day in Berlin and we had no idea marks were about 4000 to a dollar."

"We travel so quickly we just about learn the color of one country when we have to start all over in the next. Constance gets so confused she arranges her paper money in stacks of different denominations and allows the chambermaids to pick out their own tips."

"We had a lot of motor trouble between Berlin and Frankfurt. Norma car stopped short and had to be left on the road. Constance and I skidded down a hill, smashed through a fence and kept on going. She was thrown out but is none the less worse except for a number of black and blue spots."

"We expect to sail from London Nov. 16, being due there to check up on the interest Norma is conducting to select an English girl for a part in her next picture. 'Within the Law,' Constance intends to found a fund for disabled veterans. We'll see you when we get back on the Mauretania, Nov. 23."

ACCUSED OF TREASON

Taking of Evidence Occupies Second Day of Trial of Former Greek Ministers

ATHENS, Nov. 15.—(By the Associated Press) Taking of evidence of witnesses for the prosecution occupied the entire time of the court in the second day of the trial of the former cabinet members and generals accused of treason in connection with the Greek military debacle in Asia Minor. The first witness called when the court opened yesterday morning was Gen. Papoulas, who preceded Gen. Hadjiantas as commander-in-chief in Anatolia.

Gen. Papoulas laid the responsibility for the debacle on the late government. He declared that at a war council held last year, at Kuluia under the presidency of King Constantine, both he and Gen. Pallas, the chief of staff, dwelt upon the difficulties of the campaign for Angora which the Greeks were about to start. Premier Gounaris, however, declared the objections exaggerated and the government's opinion prevailed. Gen. Papoulas did not believe it would be possible for the Greeks to occupy Angora and told the correspondent so at the time. He had no official knowledge that the entire powers had sent several notes to Greece in this connection; otherwise he would have refused the command. Since he believed Greece could gain no political advantages and he would likewise, if in possession of such knowledge, have had the courage to tell King Constantine he should abdicate.

SENDS LIQUOR LAW VIOLATORS TO JAIL

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Nov. 15.—That he was severe in sentencing liquor law violators "because the law ought to be enforced," and "because it never can be made effective unless I am severe," was the statement today of Judge Page Morris of the United States district court, now in session here.

"Easy sentences don't accomplish anything," said the federal jurist, "and I am sending liquor law violators to jail wherever the statutes enable me to do so."

Four county jails in this district have been comfortably filled with federal paying "guests" since Judge Morris started his campaign several weeks ago.

NEW YORK, Nov. 15.—In order not to conflict with the debut of Miss Abby Rockefeller, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John D. The church, including the site, cost $1,500,000 and the Rockefeller family gave dollar for dollar for every other contribution made to the building fund.

prolonged quake was felt, and it was repeated intermittently until daybreak Monday.
During the tremors young girls at a convent and school jumped out of the windows. Many of them were seriously injured when the second floor sagged down. The hospital and prison at Chapala are in ruins, but the prisoners and the sick escaped uninjured. Prisoners guilty of slight offenses were freed by the authorities. Seven criminals broke out of prison and escaped.

JOSEPH CONRAD AS DIRECTOR

Joseph Conrad did not learn English until he was 19 but today many critics believe that he is the greatest novelist writing in English. He has permitted his novel "The Secret Agent" to be dramatized and here Conrad is shown going over the script with Amy Brandon Thomas, who will play the leading feminine role.

RELCHESTER SCHOOL OPENS
RELCHESTER, Nov. 13.—The Belchertown state school, partly completed, was put into operation today when a delegation of 75 boys arrived from the Massachusetts School for the Feeble Minded at Waverly. Thirty per cent of the buildings that eventually will comprise the school plants have been erected or are under construction. The institution when completed will house 1500 boys and girls and about 100 employees and will include some 50 buildings on a 700 acre tract. Dr. George E. McPherson is head of the school. The graduates have not yet been named by Gov. Cox.

WHEN THE WHISTLE BLOWS

THE whistle sounds a significant note in industry. It marks the beginning and the end of man's daily contribution to the world's work.

From each and all of the fifty-nine mills of the American Woolen Company more than 35,000 workers have made a worthy contribution—when the closing whistle blows.

And the evidence of that contribution shines in the faces of the men and women who are employed in the industry, reflecting happiness, contentment and economic security of a "fair day's work for a fair day's pay." It is evidenced in the exceptional values of the fabrics which this company offers to the countless millions who wear them.

Why is it some women can make PERFECT PIE CRUST —and others always fail?

MANY women do not know that the secret of making a light, crisp pie crust, so flaky it will "melt in your mouth", is in the kind of shortening you use.

Animal fats contain water and may not mix so completely with your other ingredients.

This often tends to make "doughy" lumps in your cake. Your pie crust may be tough and hard to digest.

HOUSEWIVES who use Mazola never have this trouble. Mazola is a pure vegetable oil, absolutely free from all moisture. It mixes so perfectly with your other ingredients that every particle gets the same amount of shortening.

Go to your grocer today and get a can of Mazola. Just follow the recipe shown here carefully and see the wonderful results Mazola will get for you.

AMUSEMENT NOTES

B. F. KEITH'S THEATRE

One of the best known of actors on the American stage today is William H. Macart, who, with Ethylene Bradford, is appearing at the B. F. Keith theatre, this week, in an original farce comedy called "Take My Tip." It is most amusing and, needless to say, admirably acted. Two of the funniest of men are Shaw and Lee, who present an uproariously funny skit called "Nature's Girl." They constitute one of the hits of the entire bill. Old friends are Tony Hunting and Corinne Francis in their funny musical skit called "The Photo Gaffer." The remainder of the bill is up to the best standards, holding Harrison Greene and Katherine Parker; Bruce and Thurston; Harry Moore and the Dally Hoo trio.

RIALTO THEATRE

If you care to see yourself in the movies next week just step into the Rialto theatre today for the feature "making movies on the stage." This picture will be shown next week and local talent will feature in the principals. In addition to this feature there is a complete change of program, showing Richard Talmadge in "Lucky 13," Gladys Brockwell in "Tad Blake," an episode of "The Perils of the Yukon," Reginald Penny in "The Hour of Dawn," a snappy comedy and the Rialto News.

OPERA HOUSE

A capacity audience again witnessed the presentation of "The Girl and the Glass," which opened at the Opera House Monday night. Today is the last showing of the company. Mr. and Mrs. Carl Sator, known last season as the "Adams and Eve" of the Maine woods, also give an account of their experiences in the forest and do a sharp shooting act.

THE STRAND

A true reflection of the average American home and the average American life as we all know it, is wonderfully well indicated by Rupert Hughes, author and producer of "Remembrance," which is shown for the last time today at The Strand. It's a big story, treated in a big, broad and true manner. You'll love it. Then there is Shirley Mason in "Youth Must Have Love," another of her pleasing screen stories, as well as a comedy and weekly.

Beginning with matinees on Thursday and continuing throughout the remainder of the week, James Oliver Curwood's "Man From Hell's River," with Irving Cummings, assisted by Eva Novak, Wallace Brown and others. The wonder dog, Rin Tin Tin, also plays an important role. As the mounted policeman, Mr. Cummings gives a performance paraded for its depth of feeling, manliness and sincerity. It's a northwest story with a new angle. Scenic effects of rare beauty add to its worth as a picture story.

John Gilbert, star of "Monte Cristo," will be seen in "Honor First," a story of a soldier of France. A good comedy and weekly will also be shown.

JUDGE TO TRY BOYHOOD CHUM

NEWTON, N. J., Nov. 15.—A judge and defendant who were named after the same man and who were boyhood companions will face one another in Sussex county court today, when the trial of Allen R. Young is scheduled to open before Judge Allen R. Shifley. More than half a century ago the Young and Shay families lived near Walpack Center, about a mile apart, and between the two lived Allen Rosenkrans. Rosenkrans was a prominent resident, and when sons arrived in the Young and Shay households, they were named after him.

Young will be brought before Shay on a charge of shooting with intent to kill Frank McGrath of Port Jervis, N. Y., who claims he had lost his wife and abandoned Young's residence seeking information.

Young, who declared he had been bothered by burglars, says he warned McGrath to go away and when he lingered, fired, striking him in the leg. Judge Shay at first considered having another judge preside, but later decided there was no reason why he should not sit.

UNION CONTROL ISSUE

Socialist Mayor Flanders and Dr. McFee Nominated for Mayor

HAVERHILL, Nov. 15.—In the most bitterly contested primary election in the history of the city, Mayor Parkman F. Flanders, socialist and Shoe Workers' Protective union candidate, and Dr. William D. McFee, opposed to the union's control of city government, yesterday qualified for mayor. Flanders led by 54 in a total vote of 12,599, a record in Haverhill elections. The other mayoralty aspirants polled a negligible vote.

All the candidates endorsed by the Shoe Workers' Protective union qualified. These included Michael J. Keller and Fred W. Pierce, who competed

BUICK VALUE IS BASIS OF SUCCESS

"Buick values cannot be duplicated cannot be equalled in its completeness—that, says Milo Hink, of the Lowell Buick Co., is the reason that Buick has steadily forged ahead in the automobile industry since the first Buick car was built 20 years ago. Continuing Mr. Hink says:

"The great majority of the thousands of Buick owners are buyers of just this type—buyers who know what they are buying and understand fully the basis of their selection. Seldom are they influenced by strong selling talks or highly advertised features. Their sole concern is value of proven worth of merit that has been established by long and consistent performance."

"The truth is that Buick buyers invariably sell themselves, or rather the car sells itself to them. The good qualities of the car appeal to them, and the more they know of the advantages of the Buick mechanism, the more they reason with themselves and weigh the various benefits accruing from Buick ownership, the more satisfied they are that Buick value is unequalled value. Such buyers have maintained the Buick standing in the industry."

LOWELL ROTARIANS STAGE MOTOR PARADE TO ADVERTISE BIG CHARITY BALL

With a fine sincerity of purpose and mellowed by numerous recent activities in behalf of a worthy charitable cause, nearly 300 Lowell business men occupying crowded seats in motor cars of every size and label, with a 20-year-old stock car in line to make it a bit spectacular, rode for 35 minutes through the principal thoroughfares of central Lowell with the stereotyped swing in and out of Merrimack square, yesterday afternoon.

It was the Lowell Rotary club's method of advertising in attractive, forceful style the coming Charity ball to be given for the benefit of deserving people, in the new Memorial Auditorium, next Friday evening.

It was a notable parade of the popular clubmen in every way, with not a few gay banners, numerous red and white placards on sides, rear and front of each automobile in the procession, and a grand host of Lowell high school buglers riding in the leading auto and sounding various military calls for the edification of the spectators who lined sidewalks everywhere and threatened to block the streets in the square neighborhood, so anxious were they to see the parade and pick out their friends.

It was really one of the biggest turn-outs of Lowell business and professional men recorded for some time. Dry goods merchants vied with their salesmen in getting automobiles into line. It was no day for French race-track speedsters, or Buick-Twoce pride-breakers. As a matter of fact, though there were limousines that cost considerable money in line and choice touring cars of our finest makes, just not down on our diary when you get home tonight that the car that led the parade was Grand Marshal "Al" Weaver's little old buzzer, with a name of four letters.

But, of course, right in front of "Al" whose buzzer, Rotary day was today, was the police force selected for the occasion. Motorcycle Officer McKim, tall, soldierly and smiling continuously at the crowds along the way, having "Serge" Maguire right along with him in the side car. Patrolman Swannick was on duty at the Boys' club when the parade started.

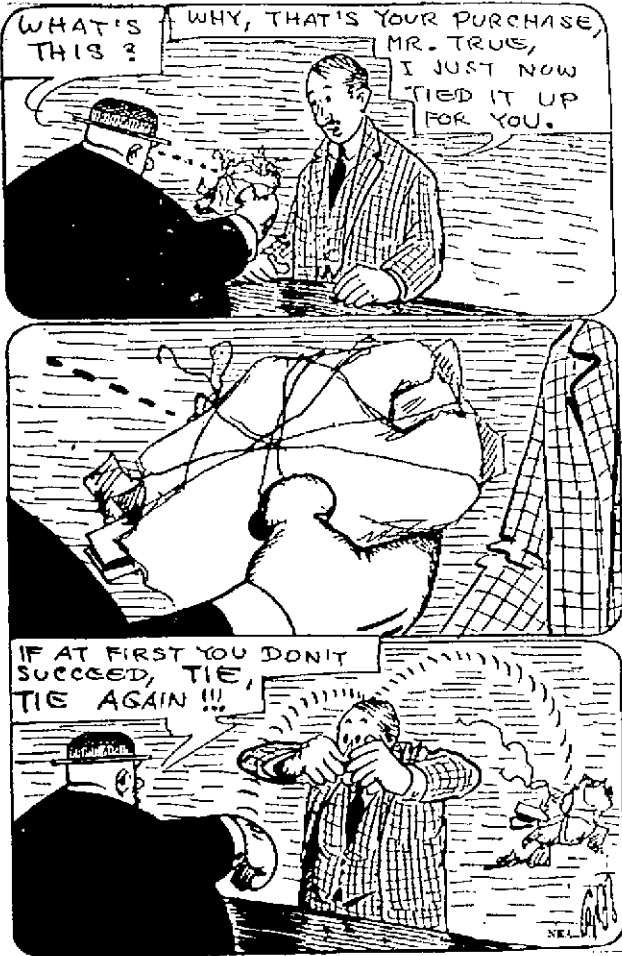

The bugle brigade of buglers started off a little ahead of time, complemented by the band, the sooner the quicker or something, but were finally captured in a far corner of the town, turned around and hustled back to the head of the line which made it easier for the big start.

It wasn't a very noisy procession after all, no summer picnic, you understand, and so not many loud horns were unleashed and really, no big noise of any sort marked the November air. At that, the big white signs on the autos were widely read, and the parade, far from showy and noisy, proved a fine piece of advertising for that Friday night ball at the Auditorium.

The parade left the Boys' club promptly at 4:15, went down Dutton street to Fletcher, thence to Middlesex, then to Central, Merrimack square, Merrimack street and back to Dutton headquarters. The signs bore the big-lettered captions: "Charity

EVERETT TRUE

WOULD ABOLISH R. R. LABOR BOARD

DETROIT, Nov. 14.—A report urging abolition of the railway labor board and the transfer of its functions to the interstate commerce commission, together with enactment of legislation that would enable the commission to enforce its orders, was submitted to the national convention of railway and public utilities commissioners today by the association's committee on public ownership.

The report declared such steps would prevent a recurrence of the recent railroad strike, and said they would act to retard sentiment in favor of public ownership of utilities. The report said sentiment for public ownership was growing rapidly throughout the country.

The report declared that with the labor board and interstate commerce commission functioning, a dual control was established that "had proved a failure." This system is wrong in principle, the report stated, "and has proved disastrous in practice as shown by the railroad strike. It appeared at the time of this strike that the walk-out was welcomed by the railroads."

"This highly expensive experiment has shown conclusively that it is impracticable to have two separate constituted governmental agencies endeavoring to regulate and control the nation's transportation systems. The policy is inconsistent, unsound and unjust. It is as foolish as it would be to have two boards of directors for a single bank."

The committee that drafted the report is headed by A. G. Patterson of Alabama.

LIGHTKEEPER DYING, OTHERS CRITICALLY ILL

CHARLOTTETOWN, P.E.I., Nov. 14.—Summoned to the Magdalen Islands by distress signals from the darkened lighthouse on Lonely Bird rock, the Canadian cruiser Margaret today found one of the keepers dying, three others dangerously ill, and the fifth member of the crew, a woman, near exhaustion, from her efforts to nurse the sick and keep the light burning.

When news that the light had failed reached here, the Margaret was ordered to the spot in full speed.

Driving all night through a heavy storm, the cruiser reached the island at 4 a. m. There they found the keeper, his brother, a male assistant and his aged mother-in-law, near death. Mrs. Konrke, recent bride of the assistant keeper, was attending them. It was believed here that the crew probably was suffering from ptomaine poisoning.

MAN SHOT BY BOSTON OFFICER

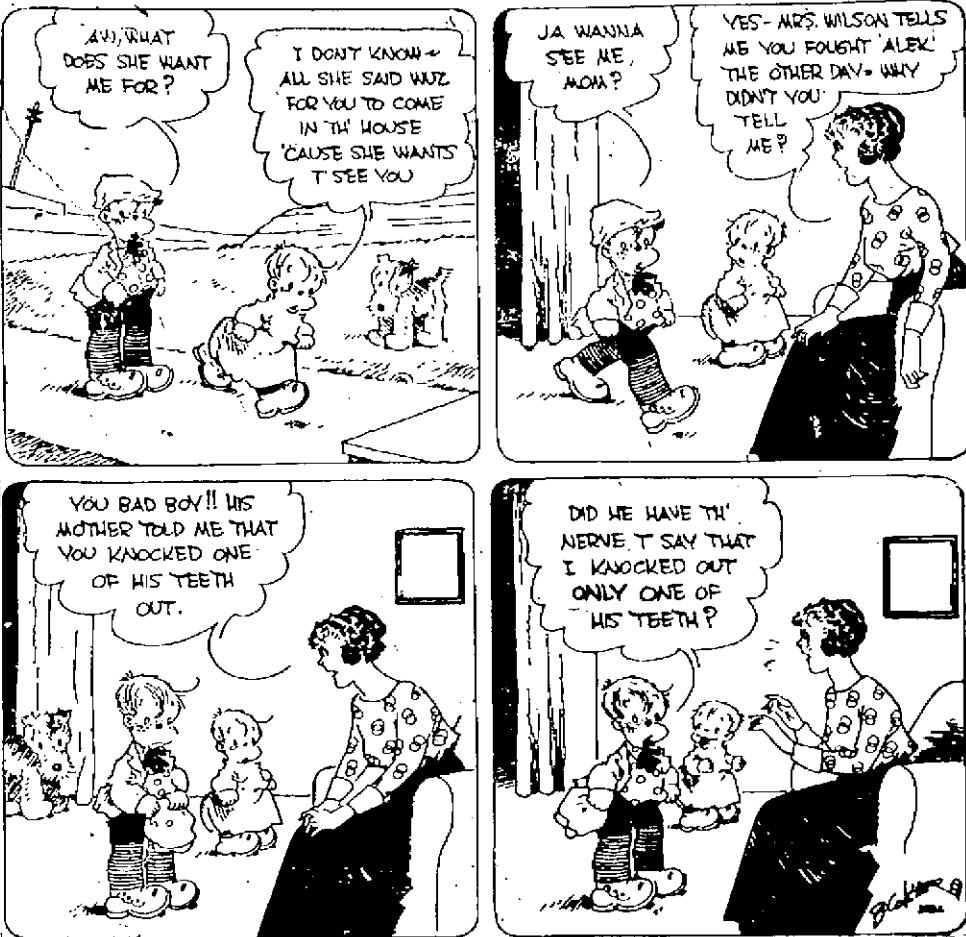

BOSTON, Nov. 14.—Stanley Lamoine was taken to the city hospital today in a serious condition after a patrolman had shot him in the back. Patrolman McCarthy, who fired the shot, said that he and another officer had been summoned to the corner of Washington and Essex streets by a fur dealer, who said two men acting suspiciously had tried to sell him some furs.

Lamoine and another man ran when they caught sight of the patrolmen. When McCarthy fired Lamoine dropped and the other man escaped.

DARING ROBBERY IN HAVERHILL
HAVERHILL, Nov. 14.—Another daring robbery on Merrimack street, the chief business thoroughfare, the second within a few weeks, was perpetrated last night when burglars gained entrance to Dominick J. Koney's ladies' apparel store in Taylor's Arcade and curried away coats, suits, dresses and millinery valued at between two and three thousand dollars. They took every woman's dress in the store and took a choice of suits and coats.

THE WOODEN WOMAN

The next person whom Nancy and Nick met on Mars was a wooden woman.

"How do you do," remarked Nancy politely dropping a curtsy. "Did you happen to see Mother Goose's broom?"

"She's lost it!"

The wooden woman stopped and rolled her eyes in a queer way. "Thank goodness," she exclaimed. "It used to worry me to death to see her."

"Why?" asked Nancy. "Were you afraid she'd fall?"

"No, indeed!" answered the wooden woman. "It used to worry me to see her sweep. I can't bear to see any one sweep."

"You've got a very kind heart," remarked Nick.

"No, I haven't," said the wooden woman, shaking her head. "You're wrong. It's not kind. It's wood and can't feel."

"I used to be a scullery maid and I scrubbed and swept and swept and scrubbed until one day I said, 'I wish I were made of wood. Then I'd never have to lift a broom again.' Some fairy heard me, I guess, for the first thing I knew I was up here and turned to solid wood. It's nice for a change and I'm having a fine rest. The thing is that some day I'll wish myself back again, and I do hope the same fairy will hear me."

"We'll speak to the Fairy Queen," said Nancy. "And now we must be off to hunt for Mother Goose's broom."

"Well, I hope you don't find it."

The wooden woman chimed, then said goodby and rolled away on her wheels.

TOKIO, Nov. 14.—(By the Associated Press)—Japanese newspapers this evening printed the decision of the United States supreme court holding Japanese ineligible for naturalization as American citizens. No comment was made, except in the case of Hochi Shimbun, which said it was impossible for Japan to do anything, because that would mean interfering in American domestic affairs. "For the time, Japan will just have to look on," added the paper.

DUBLIN, Nov. 15.—(By the Associated Press)—Cardinal Logue, primate of Ireland, suggests the release of Miss Mary MacSwiney from the Mountjoy prison where she has been on a hunger strike for 11 days. His suggestion was contained in a telegram to Kevin O'Higgins, Free State minister of home affairs. ## CONTINUE PROBE OF MURDER OF BROTHERS

OXFORD, N. H., Nov. 15.—Investigation of the killing of the aged brothers John and Charles Davis in their home here last week, was divided today between tentative theories of robbery and revenge.

While arrangements were being made for the funeral this afternoon of the two men, whose bodies were found Sunday night, county authorities and private detectives tried without success to obtain a later trace of the men than last Wednesday, in order to get a more definite starting point in the search for the murderer. The theory that robbery was the motive had lost strength somewhat by the finding of 10 watches, other jewelry and two bankbooks belonging to the brothers. A bundle of bills, said to amount to $300, is still missing, but it was said today that the belief that John Davis carried this hoard on his person was more a matter of report than of knowledge.

The theory of revenge was taken up tentatively by some of the investigating officers as one that had some support in appearance, although they were admittedly without tangible basis for such a motive.

Efforts to run down two young men seen with the aged brothers last Wednesday, were still unsuccessful. Descriptions of them were vague. The best clue of finding them was that they wielded the axe with which the brothers were killed was believed to lay in finger prints on its blood-stained handle, and these were under expert examination today.

"KEEP FEET ON GROUND, PROSPERITY COMING"

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Nov. 15.—(By the Associated Press)—"If everyone keeps his feet on the ground, prosperity will soon be here," Albert M. Sawie of New York, vice president of the American Railway Express Co., declared today in a speech before the noonday luncheon club.

Explaining that the business of the express company is a commercial barometer, he said, its upward trend indicated that all needed now for genuine commercial prosperity is "good headiness, cheerful outlook and confidence in the future," adding that "every month, every week, every day, shows some improvement."

INTERNATIONAL PROHIBITION AIM

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 15.—With messages of congratulations, admiration and encouragement pouring in from every corner of the globe, delegates to the 11th world convention of the Women's Christian Temperance union expressed confidence that international prohibition will be achieved not many years hence as they began the closing sessions today. Delegates from Scotland and Germany brought messages to the convention that their countries generally resented as firmly opposed to dry legislation, soon would prohibit the sale of intoxicants.

The closing of the world convention marks the beginning here of the national convention of the W.C.T.U., which will be attended by delegates representing virtually every state in the Union and addressed by a number of prominent persons.

Teachers' Salaries Discussed
—Meeting Adjourned at 2.20 This Morning

It was 2.20 o'clock this morning when the school committee decided to adjourn its discussions of various matters having to do with the conduct of the city's public school system and which its members had by that time spent either in private conference or in public meeting for nearly seven hours.

What was accomplished within the confines of the conference chamber can only be surmised from the tenor of the meeting. It followed, however, that the committee was unable to reach any agreement on the subject of teachers' salaries.

The meeting adjourned at 2.20 o'clock. It was held in the room of the city hall on Armistice avenue.

Then came whatever feeling there was to the meeting—a discussion of salaries being paid certain teachers of sewing. It centered about the pay of Miss Riley at the Vermont school and Miss McQuinn, who previously taught there, but who now conducts sewing classes in other parts of the city.

It was brought out that Miss Riley, although junior to Miss McQuinn in point of service, is receiving the larger salary because she is now attached to a junior high school (Jefferson) and therefore receives the pay of a teacher in that grade of school.

At one point in the discussion Chairman Riley and Mr. Delaney staged a miniature battle of words and Mr. Riley told his fellow members that he would not allow the meeting to proceed until Mr. Delaney "sat down."

No action was taken on the matter under discussion and it was laid over until the next meeting.

Appointment of teachers to fill vacancies in the department at the vocational school, also were laid on the table until the next regular meeting, which is scheduled for the 25th of this month.

LOCAL DEALERS WILL DISCUSS AUTO SHOW

A meeting of the Lowell Automobile Dealers' association will be called within a short time. Plans were recently made for a business session some time in November, but no action was taken on the matter until the next meeting.

Appointment of teachers to fill vacancies in the department at the vocational school, also were laid on the table until the next regular meeting, which is scheduled for the 25th of this month.

Some business interests, not particularly enthusiastic about another show this season, have been quoted in automobile centers of the city as unwilling to take up the responsibilities of another exhibit in 1923.

One or two well known businessmen interviewed today, declared themselves ready and anxious to promote another auto show, and believed that there would be no difficulty in "putting it through" in its good shape as was done last season.

A member of the association said the first meeting for business and automobile discussions would be called very soon after the coming holiday. At that meeting, an effort will be made to line up the old membership solidly, and secure as many new ones as possible in order to invigorate the association and prepare the way for another successful show along the lines of the "winner" last season.

CASES IN THE SUPERIOR COURT

The case of Worcester vs. the estate of Thomas J. McDonald, an action to recover the sum of $2500 on a promissory note, which was started at the jury waived session of the superior court last Friday was resumed this morning, but shortly before the noon recess it was suspended until tomorrow at which time handwriting experts will be called upon to testify relative to the signature on the note.

The next case to go to trial was that of Morris Paley vs. Morris Paley, an action to enforce a contract in the sum of $120. In this case the plaintiff seeks to recover a balance, which he alleges is due him for the erection of a building for the defendant.

At the jury session of the Barker will case, which was started yesterday morning, was resumed this morning, and according to the number of witnesses yet to be heard, it is probable that the case will take up the time of the court all day.

ADDRESSED NURSES OF THE LOWELL GUILD

As part of a general program, intended to be placed before all nurses and charitable organizations in the city, St. George's hospital and City Hospital addressed nurses of the Lowell Guild yesterday on the subject of cooperation.

Mr. Gormley and Dr. Tighe plan to speak before all nurses' organizations and to explain tentative plans to all charitable organizations. The talk yesterday came as the result of the meeting of charity workers of the city held at the Chelmsford street hospital recently.

Sunt Gormley asked the nurses to aid the Chelmsford street hospital in any way possible. He explained that they came in contact with many more cases than the city officials did; that they were in a position to see things and to realize that all cases dealing with children be brought to his attention, as it seemed to be a failing of many people to neglect the children and look after only themselves.

He added that an effort would be made to see that the charitable organizations were not imposed upon as they have been in the past.

Dr. Tighe talked to the nurses on medical subjects. He told them of many of the things to watch for in making their visits. He explained that bigger things are planned at the city institution, he said that as soon as a suitable operating room and maternity ward could be arranged for at the hospital a great many more cases would be taken care of. Dr. Tighe said that he hoped the necessary money would be forthcoming with which to carry on the contemplated improvements for many of them were needed to care for the poor of the city. It is his ambition to have the facilities compare favorably with those of other local hospitals.

LOWELL MAN'S BROTHER KILLED BY SNIPER

Christos Svolentopoulos, a second-hand in the spinning department of the Merrimack Mfg. Co., whose home is in Lawrence street, has received the sad news of the death of his brother, Nicholas Svolentopoulos, who was connected with the Macedonian army in Asia Minor.

The young man, who was 23 years of age, was killed by a sniper just as his regiment was preparing to return to Thrace on Sept. 7 last.

Nicholas Svolentopoulos never came to Lowell but it was his intention to settle here as soon as his services with the army were ended, for only a few months ago he wrote to his brother telling him that he expected to be discharged from the army very soon and his plan was to come directly to Lowell where he intended making his home with his wife and two children.

The young soldier had been connected with the Macedonian army since 1919 and had taken part in most of the greatest battles in Asia Minor and was never once wounded. In the battle of Sangharis, when 10,000 laid down their lives, he was in the front line practically all the time, but escaped without injury.

About the middle of September, according to information received here, the young man's regiment was ordered from Port Bousa to Thrace and the soldiers were getting ready to evacuate the place, when one evening Nicholas was fatally wounded by a bullet from a sniper.

Resides his wife and two children and brother, Christos, deceased leaves another brother, Pantheon Svolentopoulos, who is also employed at the Merrimack Mfg. Co., and whose home is in Dracut.

AMERICAN LEGION PLANS "EDUCATIONAL WEEK"

Commander Stephen C. Garrity of Lowell post, American Legion, announced today that plans were being completed for the observance of "Educational Week" in Lowell and vicinity, beginning on December 3.

At post headquarters this morning, Commander Garrity issued the following statement to members and friends of the American Legion:

"In a few days, on December 3, the American Legion will open a week for the national observance and the study of education in the home, school and church; the duty of citizenship; how we can and should help the immigrant become an American; why we need better trained and better paid teachers; why literacy is a blot on our nation and how to stop it; why the country boys and girls should have an equal opportunity with the city brother and sister; and the importance of physical education. Every Legionnaire is urged to help make National Education Week a success in this city."

The Legion members desire that the temporary adoption of literacy by patriotic citizens for the purpose of teaching them how to read and write. This plan has been formulated by those in the Legion, and it is fair to be one of the most successful features of the entire campaign.

The Legion program has the endorsement of United States Commissioner of Education T. W. Higginson, National Education Association. At the completion of the adoption period for literacy it is the intention of the Legion to see that proper reading matter is placed in their hands.

In a general statement issued to all Legion posts throughout the land, National Commander Alvin M. Ostley said, in part:

"Today we can say that our duty in peace as in war is being performed. Steadfastly we have upheld the principles of law and order, worked for economic progress of all our people, seized every opportunity to sow the seeds of loyalty to our flag and established an intelligent program for the patriotic education of our children, the citizens of tomorrow."

A complete program of the proposed activities of Lowell Legionnaires will be drawn up for consideration and approval at the next meeting of the local post, when another announcement of the campaign in this vicinity will be made covering more important details.
